

COVID-19: Have you Received a Force Majeure Letter?

COVID-19 has had a significant impact on global supply chains and workforces. UnitedHealth Group has started to receive notices from suppliers indicating that due to the virus, they may not be able to comply with their contractual obligations. These communications are commonly referred to as “Force Majeure notices”.

With the support of the UnitedHealth Group legal team, we are tracking the scope and impact of Force Majeure notices across the enterprise.

What you can do

If you receive, or have already received, communications from a supplier invoking Force Majeure, please email the notices to force\_majeure\_notices@optum.com. We are tracking the number of notices that we receive from suppliers so that we can 1) engage our legal teams as appropriate, and 2) track the impact of COVID-19 on our supply chain.

If you have questions about interpreting Force Majeure language in a contract, or the content of a communication received from a supplier, please indicate your questions when emailing force\_majeure\_notices@optum.com and we will connect you with an appropriate legal resource.
